

THE MORNING APPEAL.

The Official Paper of Ormsby County
SUNDAY.....MARCH 24

ALL SORTS.

More rumors of rich strikes in Pine Nut.

No more Fair wills have been discovered up to date.

Detectives are on the Comstock investigating the Mint shortage.

C. P. Huntington has been indicted for using a free pass on an Inter-State line.

The weather wears a more settled aspect, but the monthly bills are laid over as usual.

Saturday, April 2nd, has been set as the time for the final disposition of the Stevenson estate.

Mr Savage who works for Brault, was kicked by a horse yesterday morning and his leg broken.

Henry Nofsinger for two years a guard at the Prison, has been promoted to Lieutenant by the Warden.

Miss Ray Frank, who made so many friends here during her visit to the Governor's family returned to Oakland last evening.

Assemblyman Briggs is out experimenting with M. Cohn's new road scraper and land leveler, and is enthusiastic over its merits.

Boodle was rampant at Sacramento during the last session. Colonel "Mazuma" was the most popular man at the California Capital.

Ex-champion John L. Sullivan, who is ill at Boston with pneumonia was yesterday much improved. He is practically without a dollar.

The Reichstag yesterday at Berlin refused to congratulate Bismark on his birthday, whereupon the president resigned. The Emperor telegraphed Bismark his regrets.

The presentation of the Midwinter Fair Museum to the people of San Francisco by the Directors took place there yesterday. A great crowd gathered to witness the exercises.

The San Francisco Chronicle says that Mr. Bender of the Reno National Bank is to succeed Millpaugh as claim adjuster of the S. P. R. R. He is a brother of D. A. Bender of this city.

The United States seems to have trouble on its hands with half a dozen nations. Its about time Uncle Sam had a scrap anyhow as his joints are a little rusty and the country needs exercise.

A San Franciscopol mistry ad. appears in another column. People who like to be humbugged, can get their fill of it there. Palmistry is by all odds the most transparent humbug of the age.

Eastern advertising firms and western ones also are notified that all propositions regarding E. O. D. advertising are thrown in the waste basket. Such propositions are merely a little game to contract for an advertisement for "every other day," in the hope that the foreman will forget to take it out and so run it regularly in every issue.

The Overland Flyer.

THE GARDNER CASE.

Decision Withheld Pending the Production of the Child.

The argument in the Gardner case closed yesterday in Judge Mack's Court.

James Gardner, the defendant was not present.

The Supreme Court decided that the decision of the lower Court in holding Gardner for contempt was good but that he was ordered confined in the wrong jail. It was expected that the plaintiffs attorney would again ask the Court to jail the defendant for contempt as the child had not yet been produced, but no move was made by the attorney in that direction.

The Court in summing up the evidence intimated that the charge of failure to provide was not proven, but that the charge of cruelty was, but that he would not make a decision until the child was produced in Court.

The defendant did not appear in Court yesterday and it was rumored last evening that he had left the State. If this is the case there is no way to bring him back and if he keeps the child in California he practically defeats the case even if the decision goes against him.

His friends say that he has no idea of going away and that he is still in this city and was on the street last evening.

A Tribute to Laughton.

The Spokane Review thus speaks of the late Charlie Laughton:

When Mr. Laughton was auditor of the Virginia & Truckee road he was a fine looking man. Politics were the curse of his life. When he ran for Lieutenant-Governor of Nevada he carried his violin, and while he never volunteered to play, the people always called for the fiddle wherever he went. In those days, too, he sang with much sweetness and feeling. At a banquet given in Reno to United States Senator Jones 10 years ago, Mr. Laughton sang in great style, "The Days of '49."

"The news of the death of Charles E. Laughton brings sadness to many who feel that concerning him nothing but good should be said and who believe him deserving of the affection he won. He had qualities that marked him as a leader of men, and that would have made him a commanding figure in the national councils. That he had great natural ability cannot be questioned, when it is remembered that from an obscure position in the office of a petty railroad he rose to the Lieutenant-Governorship of both Washington and Nevada. As the presiding officer of a State Senate he was, perhaps, unequalled. He had a sound, sweet temper, a kindly and charitable spirit, a natural gift for music, a fascinating address, and an entire freedom from arrogance.

"I knew him for many years, in good fortune and bad, and can bear testimony to his kind heart, his generous disposition and his loyal friendship. When we speak his name let us not forget his noble traits and his manly, genial nature. Many were his kind words and good deeds, and those who knew him best will keep his memory green.

The Mint Mystery.

The officials who are investigating the Mint mystery are still hard at work but there is not the slightest information given out from the Mint building. Even the hundred and one rumors that have been floating about are not much discussed, and the guessers and theorists are giving the whole matter a rest, having reached the conclusion that after a while it may be a good idea to let the regular Government officials settle the question, as to where the guilt lies.

Up to date if they have gathered any clues which implicate anyone, they have kept it entirely to themselves, and will preserve this line of action until ready to make the arrests.

Every stranger who gets off the train is spotted at once as a detective on the case or a San Francisco newspaper correspondent. As a matter of fact no newspaper correspondents have been sent here from below.

The bondsmen of the present incumbents all wear smiling faces, which may be regarded as a straw.

People who owe this paper are requested to drop in occasionally and talk with us. We don't want the money, but like to see our friends occasionally. Come in and say you will settle next month, whether you mean it or not; but above all, call and be sociable. Hard times ought not to be a wall between old friends.

Johnny Mose, so long the keeper of that festive resort known as the Washoe Club House, has resigned, and Johnny Carroll will fry the fish there in future, and take care of wet and bibulous Waltons.

E. W. Jameson, a Reno man 57 years old, was run over by a wood wagon at Reno Thursday and killed.

Arbor Day Proclamation.

Executive Office, State of Nevada. In accordance with section one of an act establishing Arbor Day, approved February 10, 1887, I, John E. Jones, Governor of the State of Nevada, do hereby designate and appoint Friday, the 26th day of April, 1895, as Arbor Day.

This day being set apart for the special purpose of increasing the value and beauty of our homes, private and public grounds, roadways and promotion of forest growth, by the planting of trees, shrubs and vines, it is earnestly desired that our people will celebrate the day by active co-operation with the children of our schools, giving them encouragement and understanding of the purposes of the occasion, and impressing upon their young minds the great benefits to be derived from the results of Arbor Day's pleasing labors.

Nothing herein shall be construed as to make the day a legal holiday so far as courts and civil contracts are concerned.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of State, at Carson City, this 23d day of March, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five and of the Independence of the United States the one hundred and nineteenth.

JOHN E. JONES,
Governor.

By the Governor:

EUGENE HOWELL,
Secretary of State.

A Long Forgotten Claim.

A few days ago Attorney General Beatty forwarded to Washington, the necessary papers to start in motion a court proceeding in the Supreme Court of the United States, by which the State will collect about $1700, due since 1889.

In September, 1889, our State Supreme Court rendered a decision in favor of the State against the C. P. R. R. company, sustaining the judgment of the lower court in its judgment, which amounted then to $1600 for taxes and unpatented lands in Washoe county. The R. R. company sent out a writ of error to the Supreme Court of the U. S., and that was the last heard of the case since March 20, 1889, till this movement.

The writ having not been prosecuted General Beatty says that he can have it dismissed in the Federal Court and collect the money.

Why it has not been sooner attended to, is a question that Attorney Generals have over-looked, and in Washoe county three District Attorneys have let it slip along, but the present District Attorney, F. H. Norcross, has dug it up, and Beatty will put it through for all it is worth.

"Chimney Fadden."

Ed. Townsend, who used to work on the Virginia Chronicle and later on the San Francisco Examiner, has published a book in New York called Chimney Fadden and tells of the funny things a Bowery boy did as the servant of a wealthy New Yorker.

The Bowery boy tells the story in the exquisite slang of his tribe, and the book has become permanently popular in New York for it is full of keen hits and philosophical observations, all put in Bowery slang, of the first water. Fadden's observations on society, club life and politics are very side-splitting, and remind one of Sam Wallers remarks on English manners and customs.

The APPEAL is glad to chronicle the fact that another Sagebrusher has gone to Gotham and scored a literary success. Order the book of Cagwin & Noteware and you will enjoy many a good laugh.

M. E. Services today at 11 a. m. Subject: "The Great Sifter." 7:30 p. m. Subject: "The New Testament Idea of Hell."

All are invited.
